

this is answering a request coming thru members of the rabbit breeders association....To Begin...it is pretty bad when you have forced out and made the NEW ENGLAND COTTONTAIL non extinct....YES RABBIT ORGANIZATIONS have posted New Hampshire and Vermont and Connecticut as owning almost no cottontail wild rabbits, much because of sloppy yard keeping and blaming them for your nasty hording of RATS in pet-shops and supplies and now comes the livestock web-site advising us to write in and stop your innocent domestic RABBITS being used for feeding human tables....My two DOMESTIC rabbits took me out of a 3-foot flooding indoors to my appartment i was living in, and again stopped the black africans as they attacked me while i boarded the sub-way train..... You cruel people in Connecticut, these innocent companion animals are so intelligent as they are cared for properly to be as helpful as dogs and they are much quieter.
